Political and Credit Risk (for Lenders)

Our expert, growing team has written the broad range of Political Risk and Non-Payment perils over a long period of time. The team have extensive experience writing both governmental non-payment and contractual non-performance as well as private sector default risk. Coverage is offered as direct insurance and facultative reinsurance. The team additionally offered country risk coverage for lending into emerging markets for both investment and asset protection.

What makes us different?

We have the expert experience to understand and provide consistent responses to the unique risks and enquiries presented by our broad client base. In this time of unprecedented social, economic, medical and political challenges we appreciate that consistency, understanding and speed of response are key service requirements.

Innovation in both products and delivery is embedded in our offering, both in use of cloud based service platforms as well as product development and enquiry review. We are committed to developing long-term client and intermediary relationships.
